If "Bargain Hunting" Is Extravagance, Isn't It Strange That Bargain Hunters Can Always Afford It?

And haven't you noticed that, even if the family income is not at all great, the bargain hunting woman always seems to have the money with which to indulge her "extravagance?"

This fact should teach her critics something—perhaps teach them that the fixed habit of intelligent buying, based upon a persistent study of the ads in the Telegram, is a form of "extravagance" that should prevail in every home in the county!

SHOULD SWAT THE FLY NOW

Breeding Time Near and Quick Action is Urged by Health Bureau.

Swat the fly now. The spring time, the breeding season of the fly, is at hand. This is pointed out in a warning issued by Doctor Ziegler, director of the department of health and charities in Philadelphia.

Causes Many Diseases. Doctor Ziegler cited as some of the diseases which the fly causes: typhoid fever, tuberculosis of the lungs, conjunctivitis, diarrhea and dysentery. Germs are carried by the flies in their feet, he pointed out, and they take the infectious dirt from the manure pile to the kitchen; from the garbage can to the milk bottle and from street filth to the baby's face.

Garbage and manure are the chief cause for the development of flies," said Doctor Ziegler. "They reproduce so rapidly that one fly in the spring will become the progenitor of millions of flies during the summer. It is estimated that the average domestic fly can travel from 300 to 2,000 yards, and taking into consideration that they may be carried great distances on trains or ships, the spread of the disease will be equally extensive." Here is some advice which Doctor Ziegler gives and, if carried out, will he thinks, go a long way toward reducing the fly evil:

Screen all doors and windows in the early spring.

Allow no garbage, soiled newspapers, trash or dirt to accumulate in the cellar, yard or back alley.

Keep all drains clean and free from obstruction.

Cover the garbage can tightly. Cleanse it frequently with a solution of washing soda.

Keep Food Covered. Do not allow food of any kind to remain uncovered, particularly milk, puddings and custards. The sugar bowl should also be kept covered. Keep cakes, pastry and all sweets under cover.

The kitchen sink should be free from fruit and vegetable parings or tea leaves.

Remove all food and soiled dishes from the table immediately after meals, and wash the dishes promptly.

Keep the icebox clean and free from odors and the door tightly closed.

See that all leaks from toilets and drain pipes are repaired promptly.

Empty all dirty water from basins and sloop jars as soon as used.

Do not allow the baby's soiled diapers to lie around the house, but wash them promptly.

Cupboards should be cleansed daily with a solution of washing soda and then a small portion of borax solution poured in.

INJURIOUS EPITHETS Containing Allusions to Germany are Tariffed by Paris Court.

(Correspondence of Associated Press.) PARIS, Mar. 27.—Injurious epithets containing allusions to Germany, the Germans or to the war, have been tariffed by the Eighth Correctional Court of Paris. The word "Spoken," applied to a Frenchman, costs a fine of 16 francs up. Telling a delinquent that "he ought to go to Berlin" is punishable by a minimum of a day's imprisonment. To say that a man "has an ugly mug that would go well with a pointed helmet" costs a hundred francs.
